Grand Island Man Meets USDA Leader

Landowner recognized by Pheasants Forever at National Pheasant Fest

Omaha, Neb. – February 2, 2011- Colby Collins of Grand Island was recognized by Pheasants Forever for his commitment to conservation. Collins was also thanked for his land stewardship by Tom Vilsack, the U.S. Secretary of Agriculture, as part of a press conference to announce Pheasants Forever's 3 millionth acre of habitat work in Nebraska.

The Collin's family was recognized as one of 14 Nebraska families across the state that contributed to the 3 millionth acre of habitat impacted by Pheasants Forever since 1987. Nebraska is the first state within the Pheasants Forever organization to reach the 3 million acre accomplishment.

"The 3 million acre accomplishment is the result of the dedication and passion of local chapters and their volunteers as well as the many unique and productive partnerships that we have in Nebraska", stated Pete Berthelsen, Pheasants Forever Senior Field Coordinator. "Project by project, acre by acre, we're working to make a difference for Nebraska's wildlife".

Some of the habitat programs and accomplishments that the Collin's were recognized for include: family farm land that is enrolled into the Conservation Reserve Program, Environmental Quality Incentives Program and Grassland Improvement Program, performing wildlife management practices that include the use of prescribed fire, planting winter cover food plots, edge feathering and performing CRP Mid Contract Management. In addition, Colby has served as a long-time chapter committee member for the Loup/Platte Ringnecks chapter of Pheasants Forever. The chapter's 20th anniversary banquet will be held in Grand Island in October.

In addition to congratulating Collins, Secretary Vilsack also announced a new Conservation Reserve Program (CRP) signup would occur from March 14 to April 15 targeting up to 4 million acres for acceptance.

"Over the past 25 years, support for CRP has grown thanks to strong backing from partners like Pheasants Forever, farmers, ranchers, conservationists, hunters, fishermen and other outdoor sports enthusiasts," said Vilsack. "Not only has CRP contributed to the national effort to improve water and air quality, it has preserved habitat for wildlife, and prevented soil erosion by protecting the most sensitive areas including those prone to flash flooding and runoff. Today's announcement continues the Obama Administration's effort to conserve sensitive areas and improve wildlife habitat."

"It's been a great day for the birds," remarked Howard Vincent, President and CEO of Pheasants Forever & Quail Forever. "On the day we thank the chapters, agency partners, and landowners of Nebraska for reaching the three million acre milestone, Secretary Vilsack joins us with news that will help create millions more acres of habitat next year through CRP. We are very pleased."

About Nebraska Pheasants Forever

The Elkhorn Valley Chapter in Madison, Stanton, and Pierce Counties was Nebraska's first chapter of Pheasants Forever, having formed on March 4, 1986. The following spring, Pheasants Forever chapters improved 2,857 acres in Nebraska. From those humble beginnings, Pheasants Forever now completes about 3,900 habitat projects annually in the state. Those projects include wetland restorations, nesting cover establishments, land acquisitions, prescribed burning maintenance and winter cover plantings. Today, Nebraska boasts 60 Pheasants Forever chapters, 4 Quail Forever chapters, 10,000 members and spends over $3 million in the state each year on habitat projects, habitat equipment and youth education.
